Thank you for joining us for the inaugural “Home for the Holidays” House Tour. We sincerely hope that you enjoy your day , get inspired to start your home holiday decorating, and capture the holiday spirit.

The Continuo Arts Foundation is a 501 (c) 3 charitable organization that furthers artistic advancement by providing national and international performance opportunities for gifted artists, musicians, and composers in addition to fostering musical appreciation through education and exposure. Working in partnership with corporate and private sponsors, the Continuo Arts Foundation makes possible the composition and performance of music in ways which might otherwise be considered too unique or too expensive to be ordinarily undertaken; giving precedence to considerations of quality over those of quantity; to artistic rather than economic values and to opportunity over expediency.

We would like to thank our tour chairperson, Sherrie Natko from Coldwell Banker, who has been the driving force in launching this tour. We would also like to thank our historian, Monica Bergin, who took the time to get to know each home and homeowner. We would also like to thank the many volunteers from Continuo Arts and Coldwell Banker for making this experience possible. And finally to our homeowners, who have so graciously welcomed us into their homes, we are very appreciative and extremely grateful!

Enjoy your day!

This vibrant Victorian home was built in the 1920s and has been lovingly restored by current owners, Barbara & Scot McElheny and their three children. The previous owners had lived in this home for 30 years, and the McElheny's have made it their home for the past 13 years.

This whole home has pretty much been renovated, while still keeping the historical beauty. The first floor has been completely replaced with new sheet rock, and an extension has been added to the kitchen. Also, the beautiful staircase to the second floor was completely rebuilt.

The McElheny's love that this Victorian home has such a great level of energy due to the way the rooms flow. It is light and airy, but still maintains period structure and wood working. Their favorite features of this home is the spacious front porch, as well as the fantastic location of the home.

Where do you start when you're designing a room-- the floor, the furniture, the walls? I believe the best place to start is a conversation about a room, and what you'd like to see replaced.

I will listen closely to what you tell me about your lifestyle and tastes. Collaboratively, we'll choose fabrics, paint colors and furnishings that you like, which also follow the best practices of good interior design.

At the end of the project, I will know I've succeeded if you absolutely love your new rooms, and you absolutely loved working with me.

5 Little Court

This Majestic Mountainside Colonial is one of the newer homes on this house tour. Completed in 2008, this beautiful home was built by Primavera Builders, and is the home to Barry and Kate Motz and their two children. The Motz's are the first owners of this home after moving from California in January, 2008.

The six homes on Little Court were developed after builders purchased the land. This property was owned by one family, and only contained one home.

The Motz's have not had to do too much renovation work to this home. Window treatments, provided by Classic Windows in Cranford, NJ, have been added, as well as some playful additions to the backyard for the children.

Idealic in Westfield's Wychwood section, this Classic Wychwood Gem abounds with classic features, extraordinary elegance, and architectural flow. Built in the 1930s, this is the home of the Shiarella family, and they have lived in this home for the past 4 years. Although located in a very historical part of Westfield, it is a fairly new home for this section of town.

This home was presented the Shiarella's in great shape, so the only work the Shiarella's have done is painted the exterior of the house and replaced the floors. They enjoy the very open layout of the house, and their favorite room is the family room because of it's relaxing feel and that it is very sunny during the day.

MIMI AND HILL

We want your house to be a chic and inviting sanctuary for your family. Every detail will be thought out so that your home functions equally well for your family as it does for a cocktail party of a hundred. Every surface will be classic but current. It will reflect the sophistication of the family that lives there but steals the show every once in a while. Your children will always feel welcome as no finish in their spaces should cause you concern. Your friends will feel transported to a chic lounge in areas designed specifically for them. Intimate meetings will function equally as well as raucous parties. The color palette will be clean but rich. Contrast will live happily here. Subtle texture changes that keep things interesting but sometimes demure will also be welcome. Cool colors will adore the balance of their warm counterparts. It will be full of personality but not full of clutter. Stylistically it will be a juxtaposition of modern lines with warm and timeless elements. Most importantly, it will reflect you.

Built in 1938, this traditional Wychwood colonial was transformed by current owners Miriam Silver, Joseph Verga, and their four daughters. Being their first home as newlyweds, Miriam and Joseph moved into this home in 1999 as part of an extended family relocation. They are the third residents of the home.

As part of the transformation of this beautiful home, the kitchen was redone in 2001 to update the look, but did not change the footprint. Working with the talented Dave Hagan of KCH Construction, the homeowners undertook a major renovation in 2007-2008. Among the renovations was the addition of a home office and extended footprint to add an art room for the children, after knocking out a side screened in porch. Also, a master suite with a walk in closet and master bath was added to the upstairs. Special care was taken during these renovations to maintain a Wychwood feel for the outside of the home, specifically the addition of supporting beams all throughout the house in order to keep the roof to a historically correct low height so as not to overpower the homes around it.

Miriam and Joseph are true traditionalists with a colonial inspired home, especially when decorated for the holidays.
